

Beat that Sugar

'Beat that Sugar' is a short education film on diabetic retinopathy aimed at young Indigenous and non-Indigenous persons in regional and urban Australia. In order to appeal to a young audience, the film employs a novel format to deliver messages, including the use of hip-hop lyrics and music, performed by an ophthalmologist and a young Indigenous rapper ('MC Nelson'). A brief didactic talk and a link to further information is also provided.